March came in like a lion all right, but that goose bone, whose who is looking for it would go out like a lamb is looking rather sheepish now, although he certainly pulled the wool over our eyes for a while. Though most of us are 'broke' already, old man Winter isn't even badly hurt, and unless the snow settles soon, we will never be able to settle our fuel bills. Our coal has long since disappeared, to appease the insatiable appetite of our ravenous, cavernous hearth, and the coal bin looks so lonesome and forlorn that we are sending that in the wake of the coal, don't know what will follow next, but when the spring don't and table legs give out, we are in hopes that the weather will be warm enough so that our natural supply of hot air will suffice—although if he spat too much of it, friend wife will probably give us an icy glare which will make it rather chilly and uncomfortable. Don't know how the neighbors' fuel piles are holding out, as all the near ones keep their wood sheds fastened on the inside, (although they are mostly pretty good neighbors in other respects.)

Fryeburg Academy

The senior drama "Daddy Long Legs" was enjoyed by a large and appreciative audience.

Although we were unfortunate in being unable to attend personally, we had our 'legs pulled' by a few of our offspring who wished to attend. If they were trying to make 'daddy long legs' of their own dad, they were mistaken, for they made their daddy 'sore'.

The students are having a week's vacation. Most of the out of town pupils have gone to their homes. The 'dorm' boys' parents should be pleased with their progress, and they can rest assured that they will never become 'hired' boiled at the 'Frye' House.

It seemed like old times to have 'Gerry' Cousins in our midst for a while. 'Gerry' sent many evenings around the 'Fliver' plant, in his younger days, which probably accounts for his fastidious tastes and many bearing.

CROSS-WORD PUZZLE No. 67

HOW TO SOLVE A CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

When the correct letters are placed in the white spaces this puzzle will spell words both vertically and horizontally. The first letter in each word is indicated by a number, which refers to the definition listed below the puzzle. Thus No. 1 under the column headed "Horizontal" defines a word which will fill the white spaces up to the first black square to the right, and a number under "Vertical" defines a word which will fill the white spaces to the next black one below. No letters go in the black spaces. All words used are dictionary words, except proper names. Abbreviations, slang, initials, technical terms and obsolete forms are indicated in the definitions.

Child Fatally Scaled

Oliver G. Stanley, the three-year old daughter of Wendell and Cecelia MacKenzie Stanley fell backward into a pail of scalding water Monday morning, Mar. 29 and was burned severely over a large part of her body. She passed away shortly after nine o'clock Monday evening. One sad feature of the accident is that the date was her birthday anniversary.
Her mother was doing the washing at her home on Hill street and set the pail out of reach of the child as she supposed. In some manner the little girl found her way to the spot and fell into the scalding water.
The funeral was held at the home, Wednesday afternoon and conducted by Rev. C. G. Miller. The body was placed in the tomb at Riverside cemetery.
Schools are on vacation until April 5. The annual meeting of the South Paris Savings Bank corporation has been adjourned to Thursday, April 8, when Geo. M. Alwood, the treasurer will be home from a trip to Florida.

A VITAL DIFFERENCE

In the hands of this Bank as Executor and Trustee an estate experiences minimum depletion, incident to inheritance taxes and ordinary administration costs. In the hands of an inexperienced Executor and Trustee the same estate might suffer heavy depletion,—the result of lack of knowledge, lack of specialized facilities and time for infinite details.

Give Silent Treatment

Drinking of Rum a Bad Habit—Once Purged of it, the Fight is Won

"Wet and dry propaganda is being bandied about the country to a more or less extent aided by the newspapers and magazines. The Boston American is engaged in taking a nation-wide poll on the national prohibition issue. For the purpose of making this poll representative as possible I would like to obtain your personal co-operation and that of your newspaper."

No thank you. We are in favor of "letting the old act die." Prohibition is a live issue only as long as the papers of country continue to feature it as news. When they cease to give this propaganda a place on the first page it will die a natural death. Prohibition has no place in the constitution any more than it has in our state constitution but as a matter of fact it is in both and it is there to stay. It may gall the present generation somewhat, but it will be but a matter of history to the coming generation. Drinking of rum is just a matter of habit and once we are purged of that habit and there is no profit to bootleggers the fight will have been won."—Bridgton News.

A Bear Story

Put an End to Old Bruin With Clubs

In the Advertiser of March 12th I read the story of C. B. Cummings' bear and it reminded me of a story my mother told me of a bear and I will tell it as near right as I can remember.

My mother was only a small girl at the time this happened and lived with her parents, Capt. Ephraim McKee and wife on McKee Hill in West Stowham. Grandpa had a mountain pasture up near Sugar Hill, where he pastured quite a large flock of sheep. One day he was away from home and mother was up on the hill near the barn when she saw the sheep coming running for their lives. They rushed in under their shed and right close behind them came Bruin, but he kept right on down past the house. Mother ran for the house and she had a mother and a small dog struck across the field after him. The dog barked the bear and they pounded him with clubs until they killed him. Mother had the bounty which was five dollars and Grandpa got five dollars for his pet.
